CALLING OCCUPANT OF THE MULTI-CAMPUS CONNECTION:

UMASS PRESIDENT, DR. KNAPP:

One of the things that impresses me about this place or depresses me about it is I don't see a place where there is an opportunity for social life or aggregation of students. THE PUB? Anything that can create a sense of student life or places where people can come together is a positive feature. It all depends upon how people behave and react to the Pub. I've been in a lot of pubs in my life in a lot of countries and you get all sorts of behavioral patterns. That's all up to the people who use it.

I've started out in the program of trying to get to each campus for a certain amount of time each month. I find it very, very difficult to do so. I would like to be in a position where I'd have the opportunity to get to see students regularly. AN INVITATION? If I can find time, I don't mind a party.

I would like to see several things happen out here on Columbia Point once the Kennedy Library is finished. As I understand it, there are no places to eat on Columbia Point. There's really no sense of the things that make a neighborhood. I hope that the city will get to work on the housing problem. A Fine Arts-Student Complex is on hold for the Harbor Campus. I have grave doubts we are going to get the money for it.

MAINTENANCE COSTS? You're always faced with a choice when you ask for money for buildings. You're saying that that's more important than something else. One of the reasons maintenance problems always arise is that the tendency is to say, put your money into academic programs rather than to the maintenance of buildings. You reach your point, however, when the maintenance of buildings detracts from the academic program. That sets the stage for some of the things I see here.

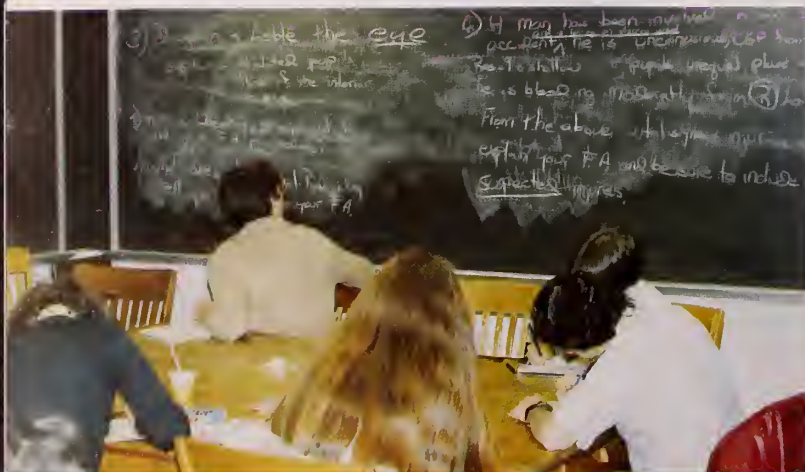

The MBM scandal really has nothing to do with the university, per se. EXPLAIN PLEASE! It does create an image problem. That's what it creates. It conveys that there's something at the University of Mass. at Boston which is not our responsibility and that's where it creates the problem. I think that's far more a preoccupation with people here, than it is with people out there. The wide world doesn't know about that. The wide world which we want to attract people with leadership to the campus doesn't know that it's a major problem. They know a lot of other things about Massachusetts, but they don't know about that specifically.

I get disturbed when I hear people talk about the geographical isolation of this area, we're not that far from Downtown Boston. There's a mental isolation that goes with Columbia Point. COMMUTER SCHOOL BLUES? What we've got to be sure of is more often or not if we have the qualities that attract the students. We could stay out here like a dinosaur on this point and exist with buildings and faculty and have nobody interested in coming to us. What we've really got to examine is have we got the academic programs that attract students and serve the needs of students? I don't think we do.

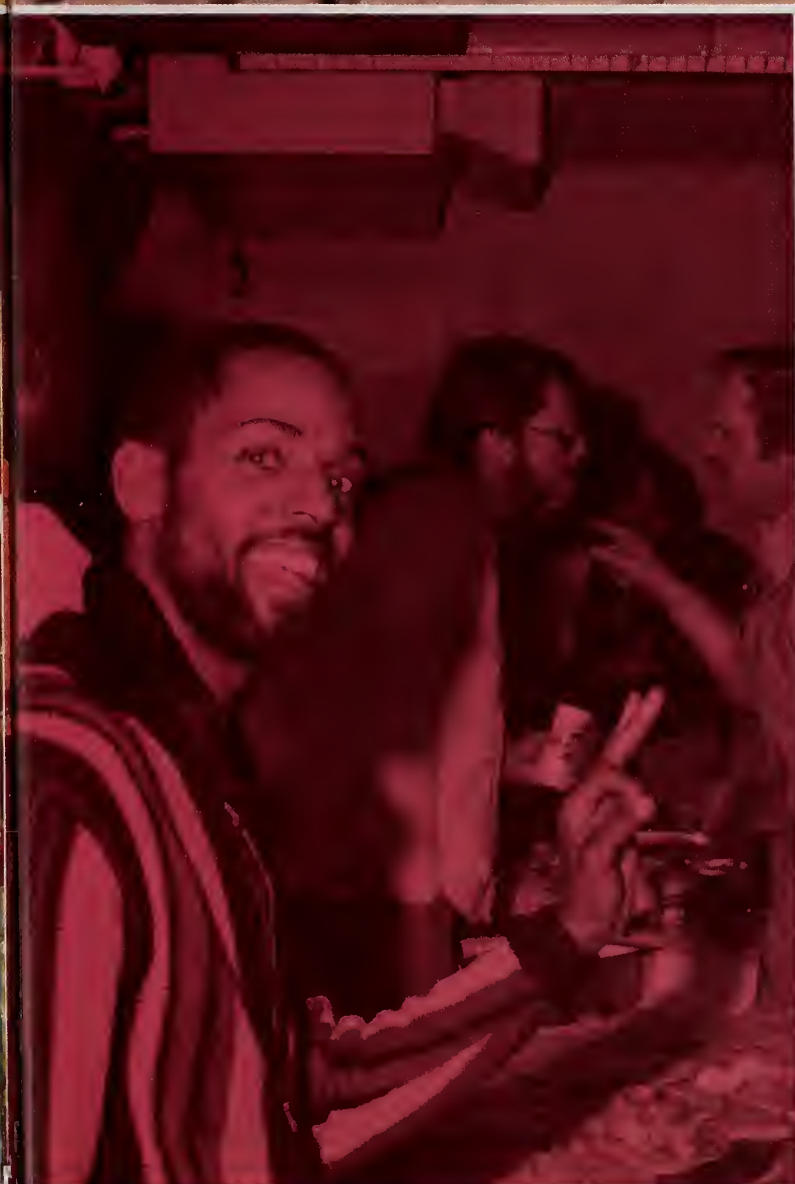

I talked to one girl over here. She said she had talked with her parents about coming to UMass Boston because the cost was inexpensive for two years and then she was going to go to a 'good' school. And then she got here and she found out she was IN a good school. That message has got to get out to an awful lot of people as they're coming through high school and their parents. THE MESSAGE? There is something out here that is exciting and worth coming for.

One of the important things about this place is there aren't too many people who are going to look after you, as I perceive it. THAT'S A 10-4. OVER AND OUT!

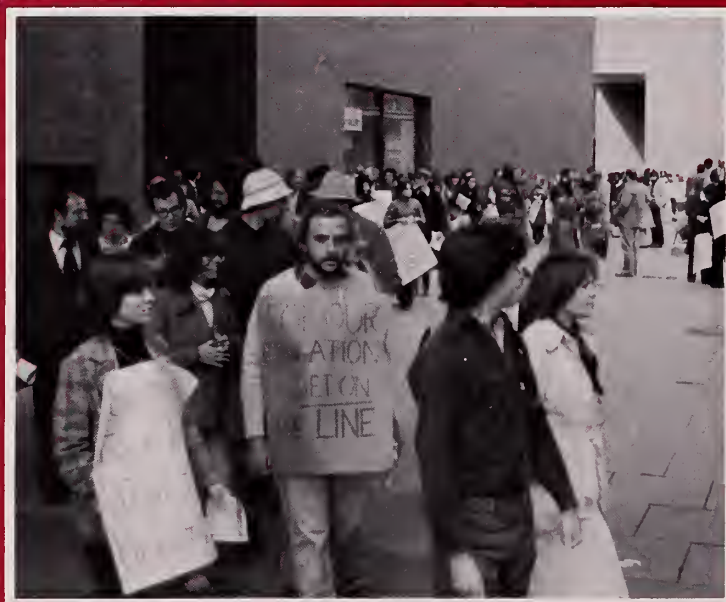

UMass Spirit. You'll find it in our halls, our class rooms, our clubs and our cafeterias. It is better than good, It is live. How did we do it? It wasn't easy. There are initially two energy peaks, the faculty and the students. UMass-/Boston provides a missing peak. Just the right balance funnels lows, mid-range and highs into UMB ELECTRICITY!

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

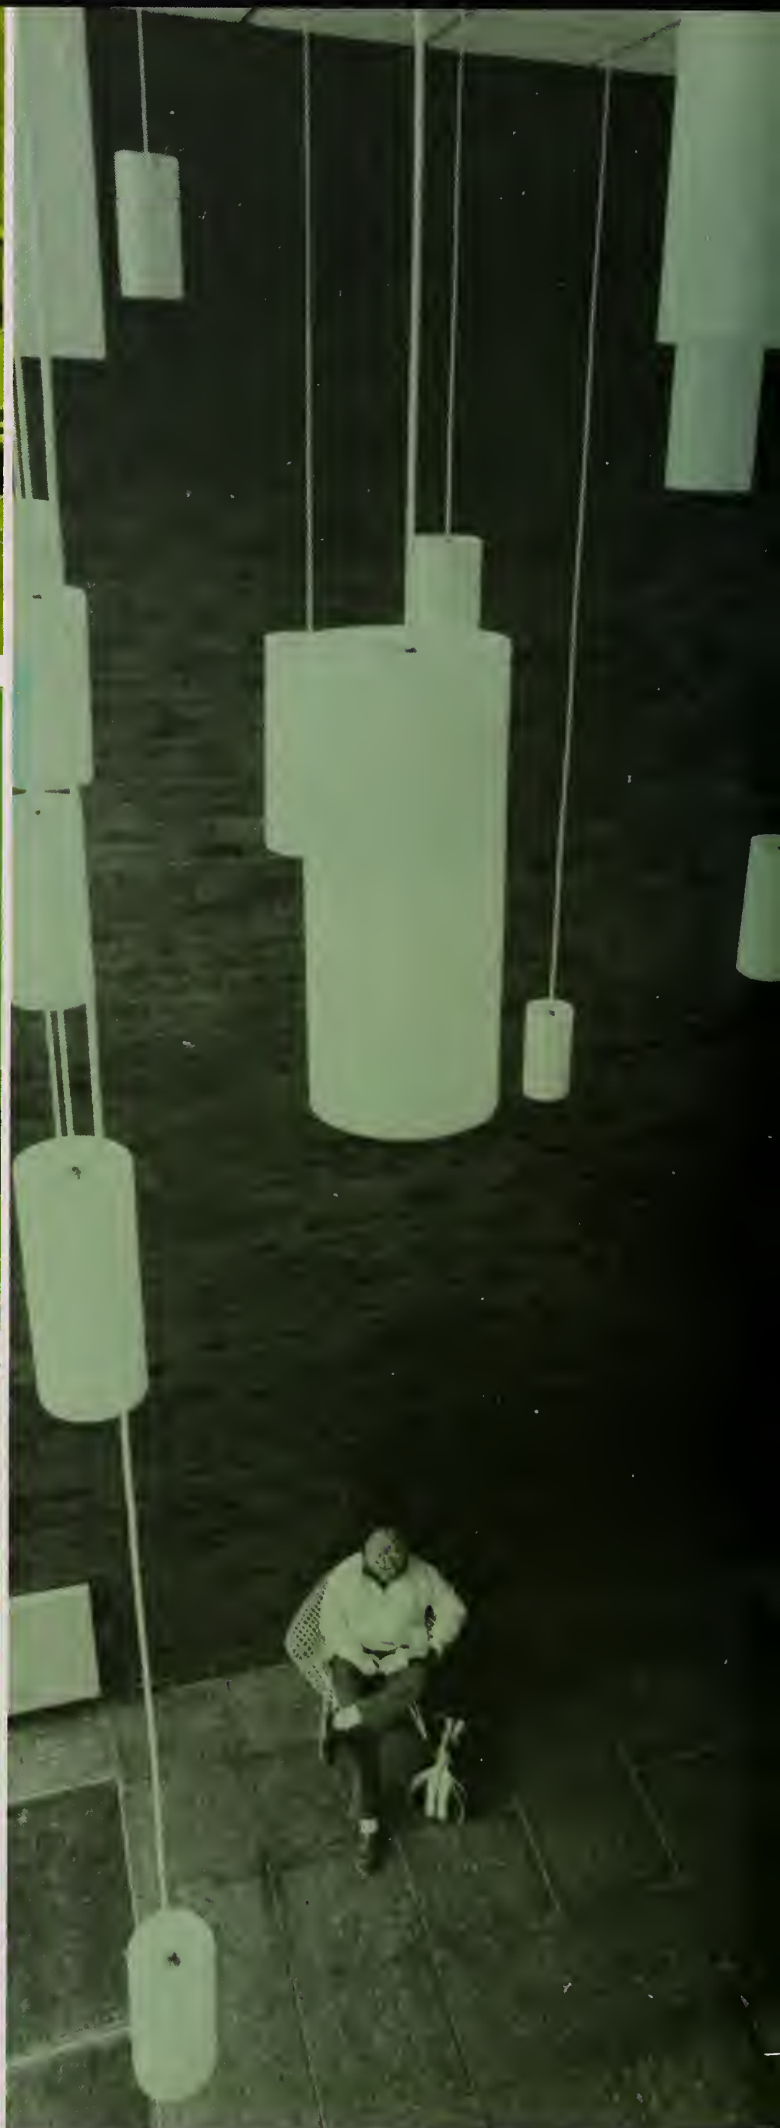

'79 is New University Spirit time! Student attitudes are changing. There is an inspiring New Wave of concern and activism. The gap between students and faculty has been narrowed as a result of joining to fight the Administration. A kindled spark is being nurtured by a new core of students that in turn nurtures the sluggish faculty morale. The feedback is one of realization that the faculty generally DOES care about creating a healthy academic atmosphere for the students.

Building a future for UMass/Boston can be a discouraging task in the wake of politicians who would just as soon see us bulldozed into an insignificant community college, all for the sake of reducing state expenditures. Just how far can spending be cut back when Mass. is already the 48th lowest state on spending money for higher education? We will not be defeated! This point we are making - UMass-Boston is a power in the darkness. But a power all the same!

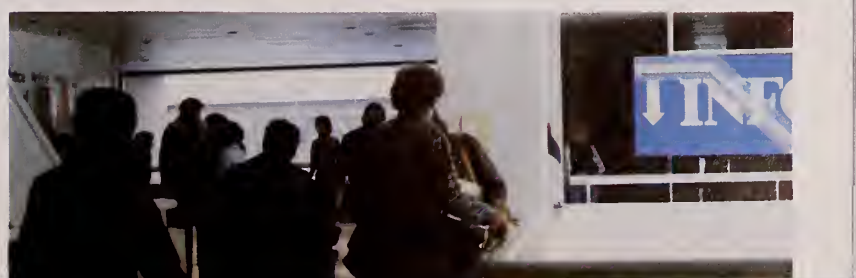

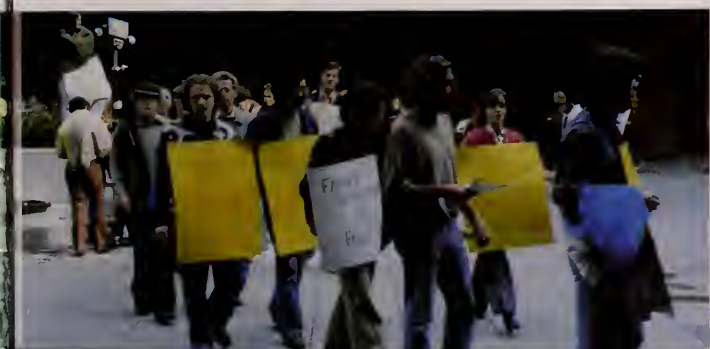

UMass/Boston emanates a sense of realism. It isn't starkness. It's an earthy, realistic atmosphere. The body of our university is composed of people already involved in the outside world. We are working students, returning students, and determined students. We are already a part of the "real" world. Most of our hours of most of our days are spent off the campus. For the relatively few hours we are a part of the UMass/Boston world, we make sure it is an important part. We bring the outside world with us to classes. All the experience is collected at UMass and utilized to give one a well-rounded college education. UMass/Boston is a melting pot of Boston's most unique people. The professors come from BC, Harvard, and Princeton, to name but a few. Not only do we sit in lectures and absorb Ivy League ideas and theories, but we take those concepts directly out into the world. Normally, a college takes four years before it sends its graduates out to apply the accumulated knowledge. UMass/Boston sends its students out each and every day. We don't wait four years, we shape the world NOW!

An aerial photograph of the University of Massachusetts Boston campus, showing several large academic buildings, a central courtyard with a circular feature, and surrounding parking lots. The campus is situated on a peninsula with water visible in the background and foreground. A multi-lane highway runs along the bottom edge of the frame.

WELCOME BACK

to another year at UMB — its biting raw winters and warm summer breezes at the tip of Dorchester Bay. confidence and pride typify student and faculty, spurred by the expectation of university growth and a unity and determination to cultivate that growth.

BEER BLAST

*What could be a better way to start off a new year than a Beer Blast!
Old faces meeting new,
young meeting old.
Old acquaintances renewed,
new ones forged.
Old last chance to "party it up"
before buckling down.*

Infofest

Masquerade Party

*Bright, imaginative costumes alive in the humor of their creators and the spirit of the holiday.
This was Halloween.*

Strike!

STUDENT UNITY! In a display of unity never before seen on the Harbor Campus, the U.Mass/Boston students rallied to the support of the Faculty Staff Union's job action on October 4 and 5. The Student Strike Committee, as it came to be called, reached out to fellow students, distributed petitions, organized a boycott of classes and formed a successful picket line made up of over 200 faculty and students that nearly shut down the operation of the university. As a result, the FSU was reassured of their support. The students were reassured that an active interest in academic policies that affect our education wasn't a victim of the unpopular free period switch and general non-involvement in the university's extracurricular life.

The "New U" Student might fail, may get swallowed up by big biznis before we achieve a thing. But we're gonna have a good try.

UMass/Boston
 UMass/Boston has fallen to the charms of Student Strike Committee
 Trustees say do what you like it doesn't matter much It's the new world Students with the golden touch
 Filled the campus-at least 200
 But if you're talking politics of UMass That's not hard.

jazz in the Afternoon

Sit back, put your feet up, close your eyes, listen to the music, and relax.

Jazz in the afternoon offered that escape for students who wished to take a break from the bustle of academic life and leave their cares behind to enjoy good music, wine and friends.

CHRISTMAS

CONCERT

The Christmas Concert brings the yuletide to UMass. The affair was bright and lively. Punctuating the fall semester, it celebrates the united spirit of joy existing on the Harbor Campus.

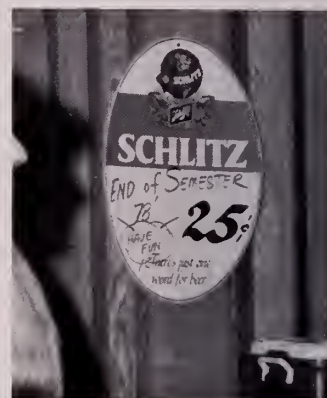

Featuring:
 Larry Hill-Conductor
 Steven Jounakas-
 Percussion
 Joseph Cincotta
 David Shermen-Piano
 Sally Williams-Flute
 Julie Gabldon-Obol
 Soloists: Lloyd Pfautsch-"Day For Dancing" Alice Parker-"Shout Of Sacred Joy"

HAPPY FACES . . .

Halfway into the school year, the spirit can begin to dim. New England's winter has set in, the financial crunch of the holidays weighs you down and finals are upon us. Perhaps that is what makes the End of the Semester Party so important and enjoyable. It is the party that supplies a pleasant escape. It is a celebration of having come halfway.

ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

The University Student Activities Committee is a standing committee of the University Assembly. The S.A.C. is elected annually by the student body. The SAC itself breaks down into four subcommittees: Community Action, Cultural Events, Media and Publications, and Recognized Student Organizations (RSO's). Each subcommittee is responsible for coordinating and overseeing those activities which fall under its category of interest. The entire SAC holds responsibility for approval of programs and events, including allocation of SATF monies to fund such activities.

FRENCH CLUB

BONJOUR! We are a club of french speaking students and others interested in things french; camembert, baquettes, crêpes. This year we've had parties and crêpe sales, organized outings to see french plays and movies. We sponsored the concerts of French composer/singer Jacques Yuart and of Algerian guitarist Pierre Ben Sousa. By our existence we hope to create an atmosphere where french students can get together to share memories and dreams of Paris, to speak French and to learn about culture of French speaking countries.

Officers: Elizabeth Daigle, Valerie Collins, Nannette Benoit

THE BIOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF THE

Officers: Thomas Durant, President; Barbara Mabbett, Vice-President; Vincent Maloney, Treasurer; Nancy Reilly, Secretary.

UNIVERSITY OF MASS AT BOSTON

The Biological Society sponsors various field trips including a weekend trip to the U Mass field station on Nantucket Island each semester. We have guest lecturers who speak on biological subjects. Biology faculty poster session each year in the fall where the biology faculty presents their research. Provides for social interaction with other Biology majors and faculty. 91 members.

THE GERMAN CLUB

Officers: Jeffrey Seamans, President; Earl Poerter, Vice-President; Diane Benedict, Treasurer; Dawn Marshall, Secretary.

The German Club at UMB was established as an RSO four years ago. Since that time, the reputation of our club has become well known. Within this time, we have provided several outstanding services to the University, the German Department, and the student body. The events of the German Club are well known, especially our Oktoberfest party, which was originally a celebration of a royal marriage over one hundred years ago, and our Fasching party, a German version of Mardi Gras. Our club provides a cheerful atmosphere for the meeting of new friends. It also provides an insight into the culture, civilization, and traditions of Germany and Central Europe in general.

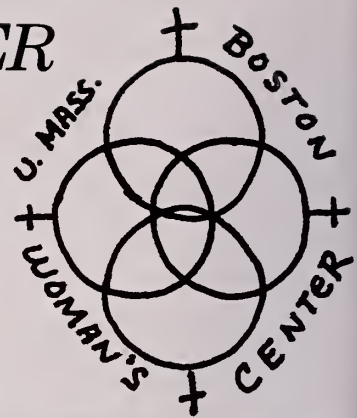

Perhaps our greatest contribution to the University is the personal touch that we add to our school. Our club welcomes all students and provides a "home away from home." On a commuter campus such as ours, such an achievement is truly special.

THE WOMEN'S CENTER

Officers: Laura L. Montgomery, President; Donna Wealter, Treasurer.

100 Members

Why a woman's Center? The woman's Center was founded when a group of woman felt that the need for a designated space where woman could be certain of meeting other woman to foster a feeling of community, and to use as a base for political, cultural and social action.

Resources at the Center:

A Woman's Library;

Referral file for issues such as health, legal aid and social services;

A telephone for on and off campus calls;

Supplies for organizing and publicizing woman's issues;

Our staff.

The Woman's Center is open daily 9-5. All woman are welcome to join, support, and use the Center. It is a resource and meeting place for all UMB Woman, but it can only serve these woman who make their needs known and use this resource.

Asian American Society

Officers: Peter Cheng, President; Joyce Chan, Vice-Pres.; Dennis Fong, Secretary; Olivia Wong, Treasurer.

73 members

The Asian American Society (AAS) is one of the most active student organizations on campus, sponsoring many political, educational, social and recreational events. The AAS believes in promoting and developing activities which bring out Asian culture and history, as well as sponsoring parties, dinners, and "Get togethers" for U Mass. students. The AAS also has a basketball and bowling team as well as having occasional Ping-Pong matches. We encourage all interested students to participate in and attend our general meetings held the first Wednesday of every month at 2:30 PM College 1-4/168 The AAS is also part of the East Coast Asian Student Union (ECASU) and the inter-collegiate Chinese Students Social Committee.

GREEK CLUB

CHESSE CLUB

Officers: Richard Daly, President; Treasurer, Larry Levine.

The U of Mass. Chess Club is a guild in long standing with the university. It is open to all, the beginner as well as the master, Monday through Friday. We hold tournaments throughout Massachusetts contending chess organizations and colleges. College life at U Mass. is more than studying. Student awareness of the various extracurriculum activities has always made life for any student here, more than books. The Chess Club is glad to be, and to continue to be, one of these activities.

IMANI

Officers: Jerome Ramey, Chairperson.

Dedicated toward exposing the UMB community, as well as the community at large, to the various aspects of African-American culture. Apart from sponsoring Black History, each year during the month of February, we are engaged in ongoing activities. Offering tutorial services on and off campus, sponsoring workshops exposing students to the many aspects of life at UMB. Our goal is to make life more comfortable for minority students at UMB.

PRISON REFORM ORGANIZATION

Officers — Daniel Campbell, Pres.
James Moore, V.Pres.
Hashim Al-Mumeet, Business Mgr.
Carol Wilson, Coordinator

Started by Daniel Campbell and ex-offenders who saw the need on campus for accurate information about what goes on behind the walls, "P.R.O." aims to help students and the community to better understand the prison experience as well as to help alleviate the intricacies of campus life for those who were formerly incarcerated. Prison Reform Organization has already held speaking engagements in the classrooms and in the community. It plans to further extend this information-sharing function into a speakers Bureau and form a Prison Reform Consultants Group to be available for this purpose. Other projects in the offing include a printed information leaflet to be distributed in September, a resource booklet to develop contacts in community agencies, correctional institutions, high schools and employment agencies, and information letters to all department chairpersons of the University about "P.R.O.'s" purposes and projects, a weekly or biweekly "P.R.O." talk series with WUMB radio station, and a remedial reading and writing class to be set up with C.A.S.H. Inc. (an educational program in M.C.I. Walpole) to provide training for the residents there. As of August 30, 1976, "P.R.O." has a membership of fifth (50) students and twelve (12) associative members.

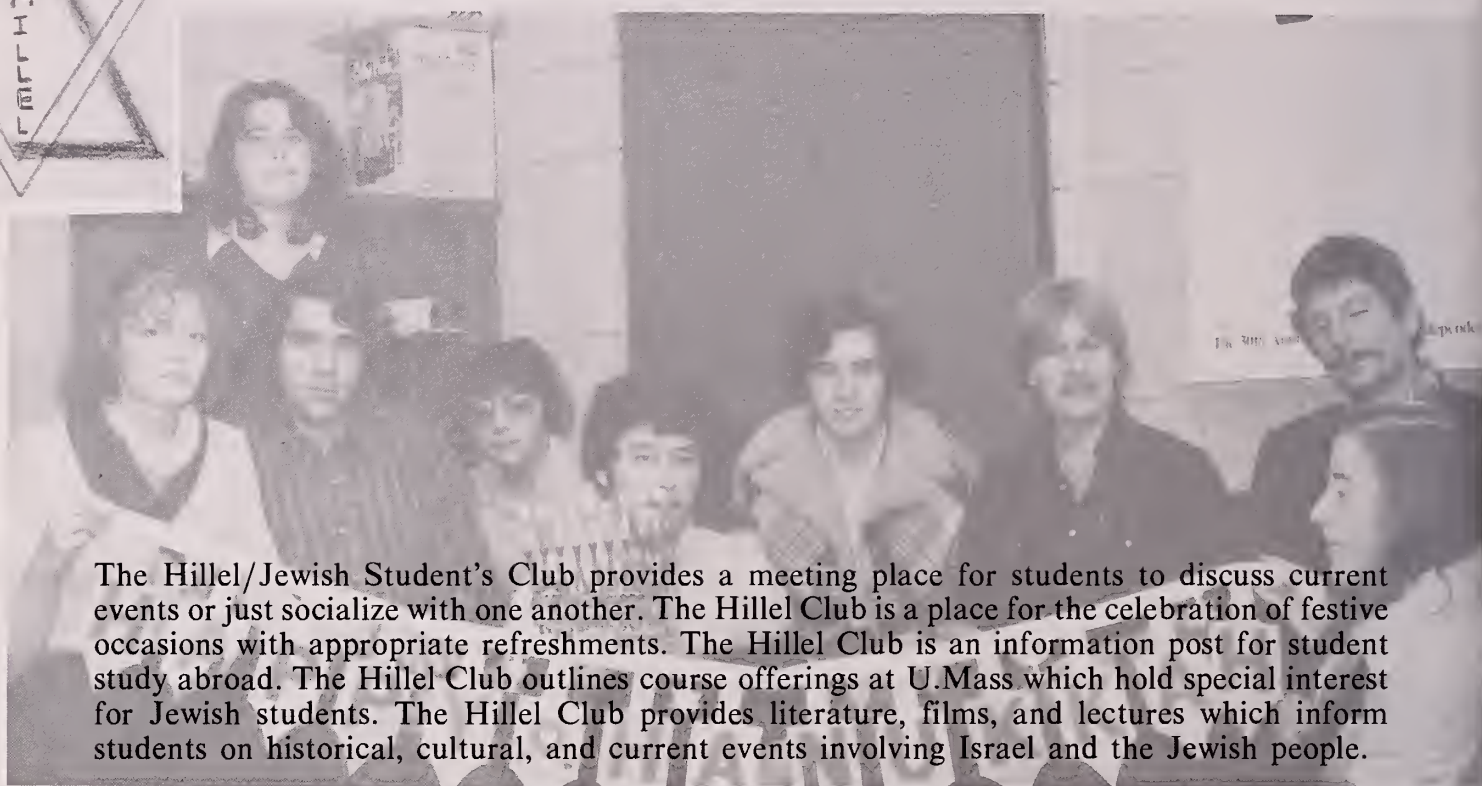

An officially Recognized Student Organization at the University of Massachusetts, Harbor Campus/Boston, "P.R.O." has begun to move on its stated purposes which are as follows:

1. By using offenders, ex-offenders, and concerned individuals, to heighten awareness of prison reform and reform tactics.
2. To provide speakers for classes which discuss prison life and ideas concerning community-based correctional facilities, i.e., Law and Justice, Criminology, Sociology, Urban Studies, etc.
3. To provide speakers for high schools, junior high schools, and social functions concerning prisons and/or rehabilitation, and social functions concerning prisons and/or rehabilitation, and functions with corrections-minded businessmen.
4. To familiarize people with the concepts and realities of community-based corrections and rehabilitation.
5. To give offenders and ex-offenders speakers a chance to channel any bitterness they may have retained into a new and positive direction.
6. To give offenders and ex-offenders a feeling of belonging to the society in which they have to live.

HILLEL/JEWISH STUDENT'S CLUB

The Hillel/Jewish Student's Club provides a meeting place for students to discuss current events or just socialize with one another. The Hillel Club is a place for the celebration of festive occasions with appropriate refreshments. The Hillel Club is an information post for student study abroad. The Hillel Club outlines course offerings at U.Mass which hold special interest for Jewish students. The Hillel Club provides literature, films, and lectures which inform students on historical, cultural, and current events involving Israel and the Jewish people.

STUDENT SUPPORT SENIORS

STUDENT ADVOCACY CENTER

The Student Advocacy Center, funded through Student Activities, serves as an advocate for UMB students in their "red tape" dealings with the University. In addition, they provide input for the campus in negotiations on the local and state levels of higher education systems.

Working closely with the INFO Center, the Student Advocacy Center seeks to assist students by following up individual problems within the system. The Center is administered by a professional staff director who coordinates the student staff.

CENTER FOR ALTERNATIVES

The Center for Alternatives is a peer counselling service providing short and long term counselling, personal growth groups, information workshops, referrals, and a drop-in lounge. The Center sponsors groups in Personal Growth, Assertiveness Training, Men's or Women's Sex Role Groups, Massage, Yoga, and a Couple Separation Group. Medical, legal, and mental health referral services are offered, as well as information on a variety of interests, including food cooperatives, carpentry, dance, and art.

WUMB RADIO

Gracing the airwaves of Dorchester Bay is the answer to FM clatter, WUMB. A student-run radio station broadcasting from the deep recesses of the Library, WUMB is heard piped in, piped out and generally, on top of things. Rising to the occasion, WUMB goes remote to broadcast live from special activities on campus. There is music for everyone's taste and fine disc jockeys behind the microphone.

HEALTH FOODS

VEG OUT! At the Earth Foods Restaurant ... An appetizing selection of meatless menus attracts both ardent vegetarians and carnivores seeking a change. Earth Foods is a student-run, non-profit vegetarian restaurant serving the best food anywhere on campus.

DISABLED STUDENTS CENTER

The Resource and Counseling Center for Disabled Students provides academic and personal counseling to individual students, as well as peer counseling training. Reader and tutorial services are also offered.

The physical resources of the Center include a tape library, a Braille library, typewriters and Braille equipment. The Center aims to meet the needs of any student who requests its service.

NEW PUB*

Of course I'm twenty one!

After a long battle with an apprehensive administration, a popular fight was won. UMass gains its very own pub. Known popularly as The Pub, it is licensed to serve wine and beer accompanied with pizza, munchies and more. Opening during the spring semester, The Pub promises to be the center of student activity where the students can come together in a relaxed atmosphere.

HARBOR LIGHT HONORS OUTSTANDING STUDENTS AT U.M.B.

TANYA LARGY

Ms. Largy is a co-director of the Castle Hill archaeological excavation in Wayland, Massachusetts, where she resides. Working with the archaeologists from the Department of Anthropology, Ms. Largy has undertaken this excavation as a two year project focused on an ancient Indian site near the shores of the Sudbury River. A year ago, this site was scheduled to be destroyed by the construction of two soccer fields. The Massachusetts Historical Commission and citizens of Wayland appealed to the University to evaluate the importance of this site and to make recommendations to the city of Wayland regarding its disposition. The Department of Anthropology undertook this task. Partly as a result of its recommendations, the town permitted a concerned group of citizens to conduct salvage excavations to recover significant information from the site before it was destroyed. Working through UM/B, this group, co-directed by Tanya Largy, applied for and received the necessary permit from the State Archaeologist. Recently, Ms. Largy was one of three people who presented the findings of the first year of work to a group of 225 townspeople, students and archaeologists.

EDNA FEIGHNER

Ms. Feighner is responsible for running the Zooarchaeology Laboratory for the Department of Anthropology. This laboratory prepares the skeletons of many different kinds of animals for use in the departmental archaeology and anatomy programs. Students working in the laboratory also prepare classroom demonstrations and exercises, are trained in dissection, and learn how to preserve and organize osteology collections. Ms. Feighner directs these activities and provides a great deal of the technical training that occurs in this laboratory. In addition, Ms. Feighner is preparing to work as a part of the department's archaeology program in Kenya this summer.

down fatherhood
dreaming away the dull
evenings with books
of child care.

The wallpaper
in the spare room
is decorated
with pastel animals.
The still mobiles
of a tot's fairyland
look sad.

My wife stands in
the bedroom door;
she looks at me
and we suffer
our loss
together.

The Man Who Would Seek Eagles

A thin man sought
to take his rest with eagles:
to blot away the aimless herd and greet the sun full in the face and live upon a soaring bird touching the sky and all the moons until he wore a state of grace and flew to meet the gods of ancient runes.

He took the tarnished feather trail,
green and gold in his left hand
as every dusk-set crag he scanned searching for the mountain nest,
and with his right he brushed aside
the beaded rain, the bearded snow to clearly keep before his keening eyes

the great, the kiting shadow.

Then turning sharply in mid-flight
the sacred bird came swift upon him.
She called his name to the world's far rim
and made an arch of beating wings
through which he did not pass.

And the wind was a willow wand weeping
whipping the back of the night

The thin man seeks to find his rest with eagles.

PATRICIA OLIVIA

Ms. Olivia is the principal person responsible for consideration by the Massachusetts Historical Commission of the Calf Pasture Pumping Station on the National Register of Historic Sites. This pumping station is the beautiful stone building behind our campus near the tip of Columbia Point. In its day, it was internationally famous as the key facility in Boston's innovative sewer system which received world acclaim for pollution abatement in the 1880s. Once on the National Register, this site will be protected from demolition and major exterior alteration. This will help to conserve the building and may eventually help open the way for its utilization by the University. In conducting this project, Ms. Olivia has been working under the direction of Professor Suzanne Spencer-Wood (Anthropology) in close cooperation with the Massachusetts Historical Commission, the Massachusetts District Commission and the City of Boston.

CHARLES H. SULLIVAN

Mr. Sullivan, a graduating senior, operates the radiocarbon division of Geochron Laboratories in Cambridge, Massachusetts. This laboratory provides important services internationally to archaeologists, geologists and biologists who require the analysis of organic materials to determine their exact age. Mr. Sullivan obtained his position at Geochron as an outgrowth of the department's preprofessional training program in African archaeology, held in Kenya in 1975 and 1976. This September, Mr. Sullivan will attend the University of Arizona as a doctoral candidate in archaeology and geophysics. He is being brought to Arizona to help construct and operate the first toroidal particle accelerator to be dedicated to radiocarbon dating.

HARRISBURG, PA. The news story of the year comes direct from the state that gave us the Hershey bar. Pennsylvania shocked the nation with its nuclear accident on Three Mile Island. Trying to bring the factual information to a skeptical public, UMNNC (UMass No Nukes Coalition) with assistance of MASSPIRG and EARTH FOODS conducted a two day extensive Nuclear Awareness Teach-In. Speakers included Jeff Young and Ben Blake from Clamshell Alliance, and Frank Bove from MASS PIRG. Appearing at the Teach-In were representatives from Physicians For Social Responsibility, Mobilization For Survival, Union of Concerned Scientists, EPIC, Socialist Workers Party and Trident Conversion Campaign. A handful of professors from UMass and N.U. were also present. Discussion and planning sessions were held after.

DONUT EATING CONTEST

INFOFEST is a four day-long festival/information fair sponsored by INFO annually during the fall and spring semesters. INFOFEST is a happening at which various University and College departments and organizations hold an 'open house' with special events, talent contests, and arts and crafts displayed for the University community. Aimed at generating 'esprit de corps' on campus, INFOFEST is a cooperative effort between INFO and the University community to enhance the quality of campus life with active participation by a wide cross-section of the University community. All are encouraged to get involved.

"AIR AND WINDS"

Once again U. Mass opens its campus to the community of Boston for a day of fun and activities. Kite making, games, arts & crafts, music were enjoyed by young and old alike.

*COLLEGE OF PUBLIC
AND COMMUNITY
SERVICES*

THE COLLEGE OF PUBLIC AND COMMUNITY SERVICE offers a unique and alternative method to education by reaching out to the working world and enhancing its talents, personal experiences, and on-the-job training with that of a dedicated, experienced faculty. Credits are awarded for relative work in related fields of public and community service allowing most students a head start towards their diploma.

Located in the original U.Mass complex in Downtown Boston, C.P.C.S. captures the essence of the University in providing the maximum educational opportunities to the citizens of Boston.

CASTLE HILL SITE WAYLAND, MASS.

Castle Hill is an archaeological site in Wayland dating from the Middle Archaic period up to the time of contact, when settlers from Watertown moved in, as well as settlers from England. Castle Hill was first surveyed on November 11, 1977 by Dr. Charles Nelson and Dr. Barbara Luedtke of the Anthropology Department, who were accompanied by members of the Massachusetts Archaeological Society (MAS) and students from U. Mass. In the spring of 1978, an excavation was begun which will continue until the fall of 1979. Castle Hill has a Massachusetts Historical Commission number of 19-MD-339. Material and artifacts found at the site will be donated to the town of Wayland.

Among the students from U. Mass who worked on the initial survey were Tonya Largy and Mary Waters. These are both students of Anthropology who have continued to work at the site during the excavation. Tonya is the director at the site on Tuesday, assisted by Cile Hicks, a resident of Wayland. Geoffrey Mansfield, a graduate student from Connecticut Wesleyan is the director on Saturdays, assisted by Mary Waters from U. Mass. In addition, there is a crew of workers composed of residents interested in learning more about their local history.

COMMENCEMENT '79

I'm too old for this,
the emotional quality I miss.
What are we doing in uniform?
Proving we're part of a military norm?

Who are those speakers sitting
up there,
whose thoughts we'll all be obliged to share?
Why are we willing to stage
this grand show,
this rite of passage before we go?

There are so few faces I recognize
in this multitude of the medalled
wise.
Who am I, who after all these years knows only a handful of his peers?
What did I do to deserve being
here?

When we disband and go our ways,
dissolving into the city's haze,
now as strangers pursuing new tasks,
playing new games, assuming new masks,

moments may come to waylay us
as we're crowded on the train or bus or stalled in long commuter lines, moments, flashbacks to other times,
to writing papers and dubious tests,
to beerblasts and Oktoberfests.
What difference have those years made?
we ask ourselves as the images fade.
Who will recall how to integrate or ten years on, how to conjugate?
Of specifics, little will remain,
little substantial did we gain.
For all that work, what was the sense?
Have we called only on abience?

The speakers rise and have their say.
Rain threatens. If we had our way this would be quickly over, finished — isn't that what we've always wished?
No, if we're honest, we'll admit that the new dimension to our wit,

the new powers of discrimination,
the sharpness and mental maturation,
owes something to our experience
here.

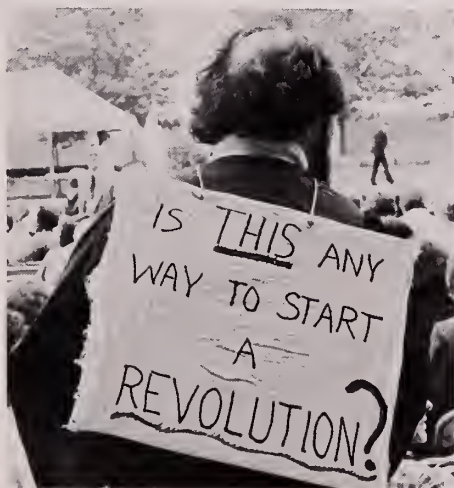

We know it, that's why we've gathered near
in this symbolic act of unity;
we proclaim our affinity to this strange institution, this rock that offers values we dare not mock;

an openness of mind, a tolerance
for ideas, a moral and scientific sense.
We've lined up for the moment as one to honor and accept the degrees we've won.

I asked, what have I done to deserve this?
I shouldn't complain, the robe
fits.

Colin Wolfe

instead of looking out, i look within for poetry

my heart thumps

in apotheosis
of the bloods
iambic
pentameter flow
the tissues
are its pad
the corpuscles
are its lyrics
praise the heart
marshalling the mechanisms
turns the body
into poetry
shadows are casting dancing
in shapes
and rhythms
upon the wall
swing low and snatch up to your blue sky
the visions
of my future
once so bright
the lights of the heart
i feel more than i
see and now

the horizon
feels better
than ever
to me
camera behind
glassy eyes
i see all
there is to see Dreams once so gray
seem like light years away. Now I see clearly and seeing you is a dream to me.
Future once unstable becomes solid and more able. I look ahead with eagerness,
stop hunting problems
hidden in nooks.
